

... to protect the land forever

ANNUAL REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY 2018–2019

Dear Friends:

The past year has been one of significant accomplishment for Sonoma Land Trust. As you'll read here, we delivered on advancing our vision and objectives. It's also been a year of inspiration and strategic change as we prepared for the beginning of a new chapter.

It was just about a year ago that we announced that Dave Koehler, our former executive director, would be retiring. I'm delighted to report that the executive search led us to inviting Eamon O'Byrne to assume that leadership role and he joined us on September 9.

The executive search was an energizing time of discovery and planning that led to deepening our understanding of how Sonoma Land Trust's operations have evolved in recent years. We have grown and matured into a high-achieving organization with a culture of shared conservation values among our board and staff. We are laser focused on measuring our impact against our strategic objectives and, during Dave's tenure, we deepened our mission by providing programs that expand the benefits of land conservation to more communities throughout the county.

Eamon brings his many years of conservation experience to a strong team at Sonoma Land Trust. He is ready to lead us in the vital work ahead with a focus on achieving climate resilience and continuing to broaden our reach. Welcome, Eamon!

For the land and our community,

Allison Sanford, Chair, Board of Directors

Dear Members and Supporters:

When I first visited Sonoma County, I immediately fell in love with its breathtaking landscapes and rugged coastlines. Now, 25 years later, joining Sonoma Land Trust feels like a homecoming!

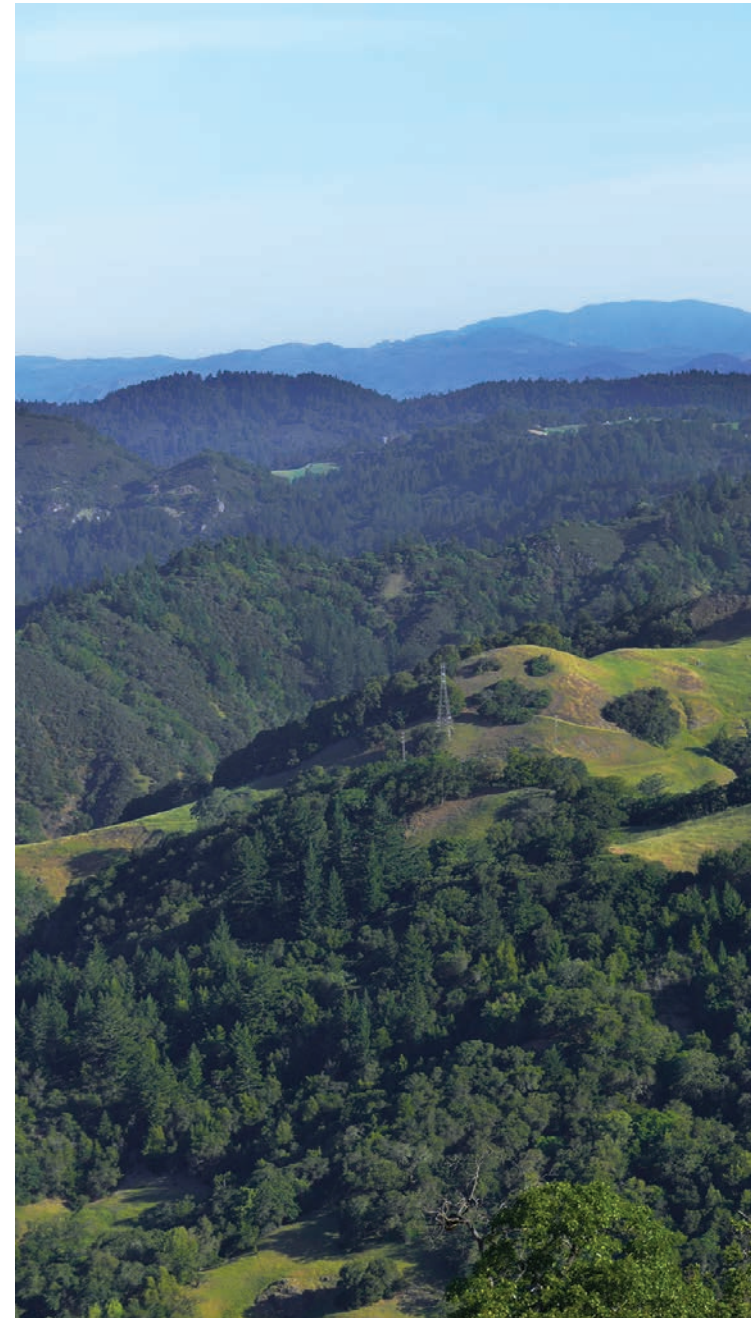

I've been overwhelmed by the warm welcome extended to me by the community and inspired by its sense of place. I'm also deeply grateful for Dave Koehler's wise and thoughtful stewardship of the Land Trust.

As I take the helm, I'm profoundly aware of the daunting challenges Sonoma County faces in a rapidly changing climate. But thanks to an extraordinary body of work accomplished by Sonoma Land Trust over the last four decades, we are strongly positioned to harness the power of nature to make our county a stronghold of climate adaptation and resilience.

Under the visionary leadership of our board, and with the deep expertise of staff, we've already embarked on this vital work through our Baylands restoration initiatives, and our wildfire collaboration and efforts to build out the wildlife corridor in the Sonoma Valley. With your help and support, we hope to accelerate this work to protect and strengthen the natural and human communities of the county.

I'm looking forward to getting out on the land and meeting you in person!

Eamon O'Byrne, Executive Director

ANNUAL REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY 2018–2019

As we reflect on the past year, it's inspiring how much we have all accomplished together. Thanks to our devoted community of conservation supporters, who understand the value of protecting land, standing up for it and broadening the tent so that all may benefit from the work we do, this was truly a banner year. We counted five acquisitions, a precedent-setting legal triumph, several major funding achievements, and considerable progress in reaching out to new and underserved segments of our community. At the same time, we prepared for an executive transition and a large, upcoming acquisition that touches on all of our conservation goals. So it is perhaps no surprise that your land trust has also had our accreditation renewed and received a prestigious national award! We hope you take pride in being part of our important work.

McCORMICK RANCH, HERE WE COME!

We are under contract to purchase McCormick Ranch — the stunning 650-acre property in the Mayacamas! We couldn't be more delighted to be working with rancher Jim Perry and his family, who have agreed to a discounted conservation sale because this property is so close to their hearts, having been in their family for 175 years. Nonetheless, the Land Trust still needs to raise $2.5 million of the $14.5 million purchase price by the end of 2020 to make this deal a reality.

Spanning the ridge between Napa and Sonoma Counties, McCormick Ranch is adjacent to Sugarloaf Ridge State Park and will be added to more than 7,800 acres of already protected land. It boasts spectacular views, steep canyons, riparian forests and habitat for a wide variety of wildlife, including wide-ranging carnivores, like black bear and cougar. Upon acquisition, Sonoma Land Trust will donate the property to expand Hood Mountain Regional Park.

Sonoma Land Trust chooses which properties it protects based on several ecological factors — and McCormick Ranch has them all. It borders other protected lands, possesses the headwaters of three creeks that provide habitat for steelhead trout and coho salmon, is part of the vast Blue Ridge/Berryessa to Marin wildlife linkage and offers outstanding recreational opportunities, including a new segment of the Bay Area Ridge Trail. Protecting and stewarding large, intact landscapes like this one is a key strategy for improving climate resiliency — for us and other species.

We hope you'll join in supporting this highly sought-after acquisition.

JAMES PERRY LANDOWNER, McCORMICK RANCH

McCormick Ranch has a long history as a family ranch — five generations long. Jim Perry, the current landowner, was motivated to conserve this land to honor his late wife, Sandra, and his mother-in-law, Babe, who came from a long line of strong women that worked the ranch and loved it dearly.

“We knew how much they loved this land and we wanted to preserve it for future generations,” he says. “There are so many reasons to protect McCormick Ranch. To start, it has an amazing history — the stories of each generation’s love of land, and the willpower and hard work to keep the ranch viable with all its challenges is incredible. Second, the beauty — including views to six counties from Big Hill. Third, the ecological place where McCormick sits, surrounded by 8,000 acres of park and protected land, adding land to vital wildlife corridors. Finally, McCormick will provide the public with an incredible outdoor experience.”

SAYING GOOD-BYE TO DAVE

After nearly five years, Dave Koehler retired as our executive director in early September. Key to his success here was building a culture of collaborative leadership based on a shared vision among the staff and board that land is the heart of the community. That, combined with his nearly 30 years of experience as a land trust executive director, led to these significant accomplishments under his leadership:

- > Opening the Sea to Sky Trail, the Land Trust’s first public trail, which connects the Jenner Headlands to Pole Mountain;
- > Focusing land protection initiatives on the Russian River and its watershed;
- > Breaching the levee at Sears Point to restore 1,000 acres of tidal marsh and adding a 2.5-mile extension to the Bay Trail;
- > Creating a Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Plan for the organization;
- > Creating a community programs department focused on engaging more people in the Land Trust’s work;
- > Defending the Drake Family Conservation Easement and securing a successful court ruling;
- > Working to address impacts from the 2017 Sonoma Complex Fires, as well as building new partnerships to address wildfire protection in Sonoma County;
- > Protecting six properties totaling nearly 2,500 acres, and adding 10,000 acres and more than 10 properties to the Land Trust’s active protection pipeline; and
- > Taking leadership roles in securing the passage of local Measure M, Bay Area-wide Measure AA and statewide Proposition 68.

The many initiatives Dave put in place will serve our county well for generations. Please join us in wishing him the best in his future pursuits.

WE VALUE TENURE

Hiring well and retaining our first-rate staff is a major focus of Sonoma Land Trust and we’d like to recognize our employees who have been with us for 10 years or more.

MORE LAND SAVED FOREVER ...

WE PROTECTED FIVE EXCEPTIONAL PROPERTIES THIS YEAR

Sunsrays Conservation Easement:

A 60-acre property in the Mark West watershed owned by longtime Land Trust supporters Ray Krauss and Barbara Shumsky. Located in the foothills of the Mayacamas, Sunsrays is rich in biodiversity and springs that provide year-round water flow to Mark West Creek, a priority stream for the recovery of endangered coho salmon.

Starcross Conservation Easement:

Ninety acres of farm and wild land just inland from the coast near Annapolis. The property is owned by the Starcross Monastic Community, which has been living and farming in balance with nature for decades. The 70 acres of wild land harbor an abundance of natural resources, including a redwood and Douglas fir forest, and the 20-acre farm includes an orchard and gardens.

Bear Canyon Wildlands Preserve:

Two hundred fifty acres of rugged, largely untouched wild land in the foothills of the Mayacamas north-east of Healdsburg. Donated by Dick and Gretchen Grant in memory of their friend and our former board member Mary Hafner, this property forms an important link between the Land Trust's Bear Canyon Conservation Easement to the west and a complex of 12,000 acres of protected land to the east. Landscape-scale conservation allows wildlife to move more freely and helps ecosystems remain resilient as the climate changes.

Gravelly Lake Conservation Easement (assisted with purchase): Sonoma Land Trust provided a large grant from the Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation to support Ag + Open Space's purchase of a conservation easement over these 978 acres located at the top and on eastern-facing hillsides of scenic southern Sonoma Mountain. The property's significant habitat, which also connects to Tolay Lake Regional Park, allows for wildlife passage between Sonoma Mountain and the Baylands

Weeks Ranch North Conservation Easement (assisted with purchase):

Sonoma Land Trust provided a large grant from the Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation to support Ag + Open Space's purchase of a conservation easement over this 888-acre property, located just east of Santa Rosa. Along with its adjacent 318-acre sister property, also protected, the easements ensure connectivity for wildlife and provide a buffer to the Sugarloaf and Hood Mountain park complex.

Our camera traps regularly photograph black bears, like this one, at Bear Canyon Wildlands Preserve.

Each species is a masterpiece, a creation assembled with extreme care and genius.

DELIVERING ON OUR PROMISE TO PROTECT THE LAND FOREVER

In April, we received a welcome judgment upholding our authority to protect natural resources through conservation easements. The case in question was Sonoma Land Trust v Thompson, Case No. SCV-258010, in which the court found that the owners had killed heritage oak trees and destroyed a portion of the ecosystem on protected land — land that had been placed under easement by the previous owners, Katherine and Peter Drake, in 2009. The judge ordered the Thompsons to pay nearly $600,000 to fund the restoration of the damaged land.

It is essential that both landowners of protected properties and taxpayers can trust Sonoma Land Trust to do our part in ensuring that conservation easements are honored and the lands are protected forever. In donating the easement to Sonoma Land Trust, the Drakes intended to preserve their beautiful property in its natural state in perpetuity. With this court decision in place affirming the validity of the Drake Family Easement, landowners and donors can feel confident that Sonoma Land Trust will make good on its promise to protect the land of Sonoma County forever. You can count on us.

ON THE NATIONAL SCENE

WE'RE AN AWARD WINNER!

Sonoma Land Trust has been selected by the Land Trust Alliance (LTA) to receive the National Land Trust Excellence Award for 2019, which we share with you, our members, our supporters, our champions! This award is presented to a land trust each year for outstanding initiatives in the areas of broadening support for land conservation, collaboration and outstanding communications, education and outreach. The award was presented October 17 at the LTA conference in Raleigh, North Carolina. Watch for a three-minute video about the award on our home page.

OUR ACCREDITATION HAS BEEN RENEWED

We are proud to announce that after another rigorous process, your land trust's accreditation has been renewed for an additional five years. Land trust accreditation is a mark of distinction, showing that a land trust meets high standards for land conservation. It sends a message to landowners and supporters: "Invest in us. We are a strong, effective organization you can trust to conserve your land forever."

CONNECTING WITH THE LAND

Along with a rousing third summer of our bilingual Bay Camp, in which the number of camp weeks jumped to six and attendees doubled to 100, Sonoma Land Trust offered a special event for families called “Child in the Wild” that brought together more than 300 children and their parents for a day of games and learning activities at Howarth Park — and a chance to learn about the Santa Rosa Southeast Greenway. And in plans for the new school year are elementary school field trips to Sears Point and a teen youth development program.

Keen to get more people into nature to enjoy our extraordinary properties, our community programs team has increased our hike offerings, too. Over the past year, we’ve provided 58 outings on the land serving 1,102 people, and we’re offering special bilingual outings on the last Saturday of each month.

On the volunteer front, our protected properties and preserves continue to benefit from the dedication and commitment of nearly 250 people who contributed 3,215 hours of their time during the last year, including a couple of local businesses that offered their staff the chance to participate in special workdays. We are always grateful for our dedicated volunteers who bring a remarkable array of skills to enhancing the land.

To ensure that everyone can benefit from protected lands, your land trust has developed a 10-year Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Plan that was adopted by our board of directors over the summer and is available to read on our website. Only by sharing our programs, preserves and resources throughout the entire community can we ensure that the land of Sonoma County will be protected forever.

TIM PORTWOOD AND JIM LAUBER

Tim Portwood and Jim Lauber at the Jenner Headlands.

When Tim Portwood and Jim Lauber purchased a second home among the redwoods in Monte Rio 22 years ago, they had no idea how much it would change their lives. Though they loved living in San Francisco, Jim and Tim gradually realized their lives were shifting north, so they moved to Monte Rio full time in 2015 and have never looked back.

Jim and Tim have been giving at the Summit Circle level since 2015, and Tim joined the Land Trust board of directors in 2016. “There are so many things in the world that are beyond our control, but giving to Sonoma Land Trust is our way to make a difference right in our own backyard,” says Tim. “Protecting natural landscapes, biodiversity and wildlife is important to our local economy and quality of life. It’s also part of the global solution to environmental degradation and climate change.”

LOOKING AHEAD

THE BAYLANDS

As sea level rises, Sonoma County's bay shoreline will experience great change. Land and infrastructure behind levees will become more expensive to protect and existing marshes may have trouble staying above water. Your support helps Sonoma Land Trust continue to work with traditional and new partners in the baylands of Sonoma Creek, the Petaluma River and across the broader arc of northern San Pablo Bay, including Highway 37.

SANTA ROSA SOUTHEAST GREENWAY

In July 2019, the Santa Rosa City Council voted unanimously to designate the 57-acre Highway 12 right-of-way property as an urban park and greenway, with several areas set aside for mixed-use and residential development. Sonoma Land Trust, City of Santa Rosa and Sonoma Water will be working together over the next several years to acquire the property from Caltrans and establish the greenway.

Santa Rosa Southeast Greenway.

SONOMA DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER

After 127 years of operation as a state-run hospital, the Sonoma Developmental Center (SDC) closed its doors in December 2018. Thankfully, our local lawmakers delivered on their promise to craft a legislative deal with the State of California to ensure that the property's 700+ acres of open space and wildlife corridor lands will be added to our state and county park systems. As part of a $3 million planning effort headed by Sonoma County, the parklands transfer is scheduled to be completed by 2022.

HEATHER THURBER

BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS WINE COUNTRY GROUP

Longtime Land Trust supporter Heather Thurber is acutely aware of the challenges that face communities trying to build enough housing while also protecting their natural resources in the face of climate change. A real estate agent for Better Homes and Gardens, Heather says, "It's a struggle to balance between housing and protecting the land — they're equally important. Sonoma Land Trust is doing exactly what needs to be done."

With a degree in parks and natural resources and a background as a ranger, Heather felt a call back to the land after her youngest entered kindergarten, so she began volunteering with Sonoma Land Trust. Today, she's a business partner, donor and volunteer for the Land Trust. "Nature is where I find peace — I'll go out of my way to have that connection to the earth," she says. "We need to protect the land for everybody."

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

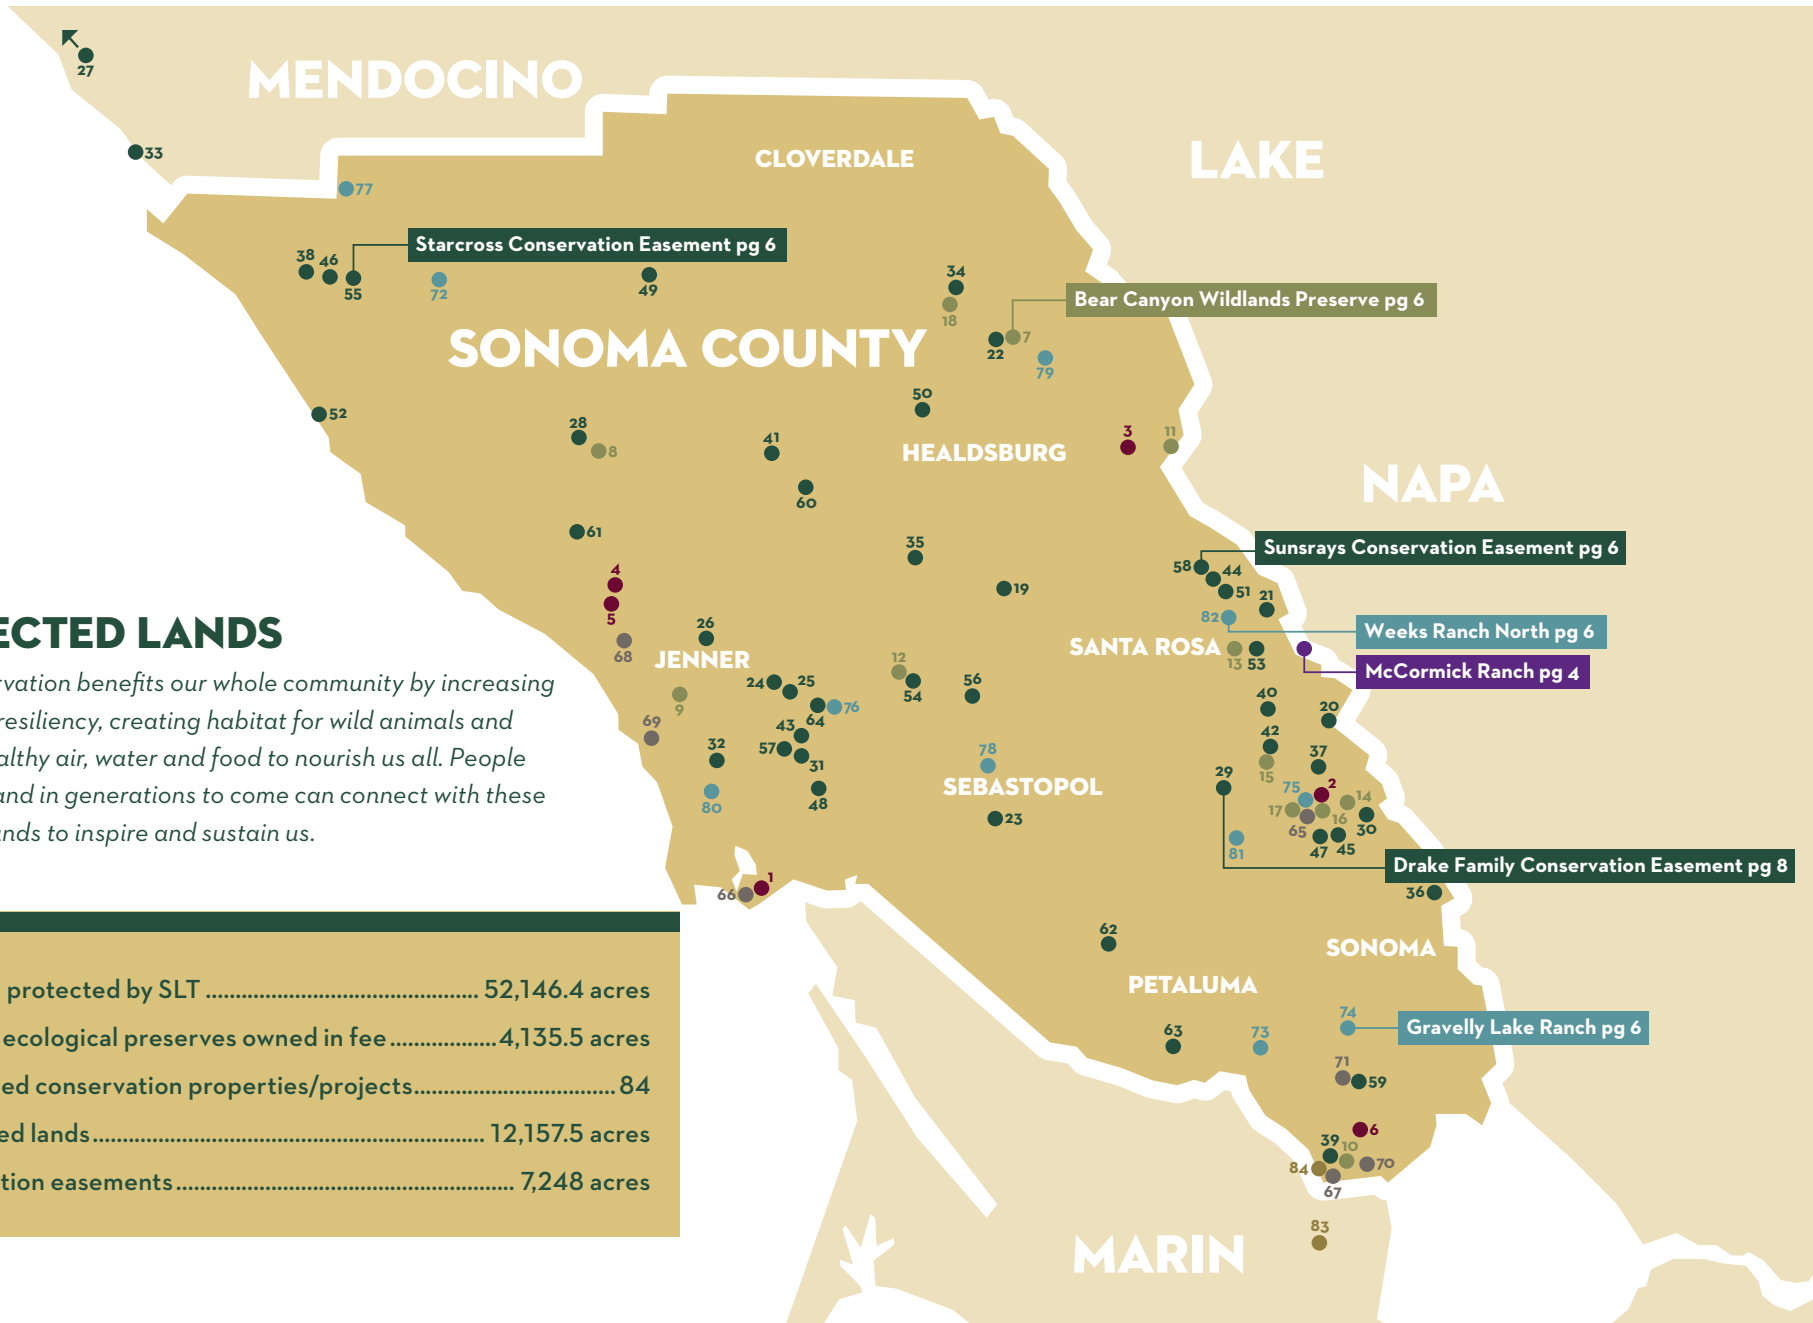

Over the years, your land trust has acquired and transferred more than 10,000 acres to organizations that specialize in public recreation. The next time you visit the Jenner Headlands, Tolay Lake Regional Park, San Pablo Bay National Wildlife Refuge and Red Hill (among others), think of the foresight that you and other Sonoma Land Trust supporters possessed to protect and donate these remarkable properties for public access.

OUR MISSION

Sonoma Land Trust protects scenic, natural, agricultural and open landscapes for the benefit of the community and future generations by:

- Developing long-term land protection strategies
- Promoting private and public funding for land and conservation
- Acquiring land and conservation easements
- Practicing stewardship, including the restoration of conservation properties
- Promoting a sense of place and a land ethic through activities, education and outreach
